

PAUL TURNER

Paul has over 30 years of commercial legal experience as a partner in City of London legal firms, including 11 years as a partner with Clyde & Co and 15 years running his own firm. He was also Head of Arbitration for several years at the Middle East's largest law firm based in the UAE. He currently acts a Senior Consultant at QC Law Firm, a law firm providing specialist advice to companies operating in Iraq.

His experience has been largely in the field of international disputes before the LCIA, ICC, LMAA, LME, RSA, GAFTA, FOSFA, SAL, DIFC-LCIA, DIAC, Stockholm Chamber of Commerce as well as court cases in the English High Court, Court of Appeal and the House of Lords (now the Supreme Court). He has also handled ad hoc arbitrations in Geneva, Moscow, Doha, London and Dubai.

His clients over the years have included the Governments of various Middle Eastern countries and Central Asia plus some of the world's largest commodity companies.

Paul has also acted as an arbitrator in proceedings under the rules of the ICC, LCIA, LMAA, DIFC-LCIA, DIAC and in a number of ad hoc matters.